

The Department of Human and Social Sciences has formalised the provisions for the next semester regarding the teaching methods of the courses (Bachelor's and Master's degrees):

- First-year courses of the three-year degrees (Bachelor's degree) and Master's degree will take place recurring to blended didactic: besides students who will be in classroom, those who are unable to come to Perugia or to attend here will follow online, thanks to appropriate technological layout);
- all the other courses will be attended online, thanks to an appropriate technological layout.

Please, find attached the 2020/21 Ects course catalogue, with the detailed information for each course (face-to-face or distance teaching method).

Needless to say, whears the Covid-19 situation will further improve, the Department reserves the right to switch to traditional face-to-face teaching. In the worst case scenario, all courses will be conducted online.
